BIO

Mr. Charron, partner in charge of the firm's tax practice, has over three decades of experience in serving the needs of high-net-worth individuals, families, and businesses. His broad range of knowledge and management skills allow him to effectively address the critical concern of clients, related to tax, and estate planning in the highly complex economic and legislative environment.

It is the combination of his dedication to excellence and practical experience that has made him a sought-after spokesperson on subjects of taxation and important issues. He has appeared on TV to discuss tax law and planning and has been quoted in numerous publications including US News and World Report; The Wall Street Journal; The NY Post; Forbes; and Fortune.
